ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

Thanks go to my husband, Kevin, and my children, Khara, Khristian, L'Aura, Joshua, & Jordan without whose love, patience and understanding this book would never have been completed in this millennium. Here is a good place to thank my sister, Donna Ingoglia, sister-in-law, Denise Coburn, and friend, Jennifer Otto of Healing Waters, for their friendship, encouragement, and love. Donna also helped proof-read the manuscript...thanks. I'd also like to thank my father, Patrick, for his great knowledge, research, and for inspiring me to work on this book, encouraging me along the way...we had a good time. Unfortunately, my father died November 11th, 1997 and I greatly miss him.

I'd like to thank anyone who buys this book!

DISCLAIMER

The information in this booklet is not intended as medical advice. It is presented strictly for educational and informational purposes only. The authors and publisher do not prescribe any of the materials, techniques, or concepts presented in this book as a form of treatment for any illness or medical condition, nor is it the intent of the authors and the publisher to diagnose or prescribe. Colloidal Silver is classified by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration as a Pre-1938 drug and as such, use of the solution should be in keeping with the FDA ruling. The authors and publisher make no claims whatsoever as to any specific benefits of Colloidal Silver. The intent is to offer health-related information to assist you in working with any health specialist of your choice. Before beginning any practice related to health, it is highly recommended that you consult a health professional. Use common sense and discretion when trying any treatment. Of course, it is your right to prescribe for yourself if you feel the need to do so. However, the authors and publisher do not assume any responsibility whatsoever under any conditions or circumstances.

PREFACE

We have tried to get this "theoretical" information to you as quickly as possible. A tremendous amount of research went into writing this book, most of which was obtained from books, periodicals, brochures, questionnaires, newsletters, and audio tapes, all listed in the bibliography. Some of the research was done through experimentation with Colloidal Silver generators, different methodologies, and with the colloidal solution itself. It seems the word "cure" has become illegal to use. All data and claims of benefits are, naturally, "hypothetical."

There are many brilliant men in our scientific world who have done extensive research on the healing benefits of Colloidal Silver. Their documented laboratory findings show that Colloidal Silver works effectively as a natural antibiotic and germicide, and promotes healing. One such brilliant researcher is Bob Beck, Ph.D., retired University of Southern California physics professor. Although he is not the first person to recommend Colloidal Silver, Dr. Beck is (as far as we know) the first to recommend a low voltage system for making Colloidal Silver. Dr. Beck came up with the design for a battery operated Colloidal Silver generator. The use of the 27V D.C. generator has established a proven method of making Colloidal Silver for pennies per gallon instead of dollars per ounce. Bob Beck is a great inventor. Many years ago he invented the original portable strobe light which made photographing in dim light possible. He has also invented a number of other instruments, among them a pulse-producing low voltage, low frequency instrument that will eliminate the AIDS virus and a number of other microbes. It is similar to the zapper advocated by Hulda Clark. So we feel very indebted to Dr. Bob Beck. Thank you.

It's not as if Colloidal Silver just came off the assembly line. Colloidal Silver has been around for ages. It was approved as an effective antibiotic by the FDA over seventy years ago! We are treading on very safe ground. Colloidal Silver is not an exclusive method of therapy, and we in no way intend to give the impression otherwise. It has long been supported by many intelligent scientists, many of whom are medical doctors.

There are a few skeptics out there who claim that Colloidal Silver is the "snake oil" of the '90's. A letter in the Journal of the American Medical Association, dated October 18, 1995, claims that Colloidal manufacturers are "hustlers" and call those who write about it "misguided." It calls it the "silver-for-everything-that-ails-you scam" saying that it is no better than "Mississippi mud." Well, that's all well and fine. Consider the source. The skeptical assertion that there is "no proof whatsoever" that Colloidal Silver works, obviously attests to the fact that the nay-sayer hasn't tried it, nor does it show respect for the eminent scientists who have done exhaustive study of silver in the colloidal state. "The proof of the pudding is in the eating," as the saying goes. What have you got to lose?

All of the controversy has evidently gotten to the FDA. On January 4th, 1997 CNN-TV and other news sources did a short piece on Colloidal Silver. The FDA in all its wisdom has decided that the manufacturers of Colloidal Silver must prove to them (by January 13, 1997) that the claims of the cures provided by taking Colloidal Silver are true. Although, we must admit that there are some manufacturers whose claims are far from the truth (ie: selling 1ppm Colloidal Silver for as much as $60!) we doubt that any of them are selling plain water. We have talked to hundreds of people with many different problems that they claim were healed by taking Colloidal Silver. At this writing we have not heard any word about the outcome regarding the FDA stance (or is it "dance?").

Trying to manipulate the consumer, there have also been claims by manufacturers stressing that their product is far superior to other, similar products. Sometimes true, sometimes not. Consumer beware! is the threat. Some manufacturers go as far as claiming that the competition's product may cause one harm. This is unfortunate, for in the name of competition, greed prevails, causing fear, confusion, and ultimately public disinterest. Eventually, we must all take responsibility for our health and our own best interests. Fortunately, you can create your own home-brewed Colloidal Silver without spending a great deal of time, effort, or money.

It may be that our whole concept of Western allopathic medicine is changing. With tremendous resistance, scientific medicine is being dragged into the new millennium with the weight of new ideas, with the thought of merging with alternative medicine. A considerable number of internationally known medical and non-medical scientists have become engaged with the prospect of coalescing the two realms. Is this where two worlds collide?

It is hoped that the inquiring mind may find considerable interest in our book. The Wonders of Colloidal Silver. We trust you will find it concise, informative, interesting, thought-provoking, and easy to use. It explores the history of Colloidal Silver, its medical and political aspects, side effects, theories, key characteristics, and treatment. Many medicinal therapies are impossible to practice without the aid of a skillful professional. Using Colloidal Silver Therapy, however, does not require any special skill or great knowledge. It is as simple as drinking water. One is able to buy or prepare excellent formulas and self dispense as needed. If you follow the directions for using Colloidal Silver, you may experience great results, but there is, of course, no guarantee.

This book was prompted by requests. It is with the sincere desire to help those who are in need of another form of therapeutic treatment that this book has been written. The authors wish to express their appreciation to all those who have lent encouragement to the work.

"The great experiment which mankind has attempted upon itself, called medicine, is not as yet ended, and indeed as all earthly things will never be brought to a perfect end, because it is an experiment which deals with the most intricate secret of nature, life."

- Linn J. Boyd

A NOTE from Patrick D. Dignan: There are many doctors that I admire, such as Dr. Bob Beck; however, there is one doctor that I cannot pardon. He is a well-known cancer physician. My brother, John C. Dignan died of cancer about five years ago. Before he died, I talked with his doctor one evening on the phone:

"Your brother is very emotional," he announced.

"Why do you say that, Doctor?"

"He's always crying," was his indifferent reply.

"He's dying of cancer, Doctor, what do you want him to do?" I asked him, and then started crying myself.

"Oh, you're emotional, too," was his chilly, apathetic response.

'Yeah, Doc, I'm emotional, too —AND I'LL NEVER FORGET OR FORGIVE YOUR COLD, CALLOUS, UNMERCIFUL, ARROGANT, CAVALIER ATTITUDE."

Now you know why this book is important to me. This is why I got involved in alternative medicine. Perhaps I should thank that doctor!

HOPE IN A BOTTLE

NATURE'S ANTIBIOTIC

Colloidal Silver is called "NATURE'S ANTIBIOTIC." It is silver suspended in a distilled water solution. Silver is a powerful, natural, universal prophylactic and antibiotic. It is a natural disinfectant and broad-spectrum antimicrobial agent that kills bacteria, viruses, molds, fungi, and parasites; over 650 disease-causing pathogens or organisms. Colloidal Silver is a relatively tasteless (although it can have a slightly bitter or metallic aftertaste), odorless liquid considered harmless in any concentration for internal and external use. Colloidal Silver is a safe, natural remedy that contains no free radicals. A daily dose of Colloidal Silver improves the immune system resulting in more energy, vitality, quicker healing, and a reduction of bodily toxins.

Colloidal Silver is a safe choice for pregnant women. In fact, it aids the developing fetus by providing an antiseptic environment. It is perfectly safe for lactating mothers as well. One should, of course, always check with their physician before taking any form of medicinal. Colloidal Silver is NON-STINGING to eyes (even baby's eyes), NON-ADDICTING, NON-ACCUMULATIVE, and virtually NON-TOXIC to animate life. The Poison Control Center of the EPA (Environmental Protection Agency) reports no toxicity listing for Colloidal Silver. It is known to have very few minor side-effects, and the body does not develop a tolerance, as it can to prescription drugs.
